Glinski at Treasurer. organization is much time as the group which Carmichael, a political former who had retired a vice presidency at Manufacturers National Bank, to the mayor's post in first Romulus city election. Carmichael was so successful in that first campaign that he doubled the sum of votes of his two nearest opponents Roderick F. Smith, township supervisor, and Bert Perry, former clerk.

CANDIDATES are expected as possible opponents for Carmichael — James Stewart, who he was running against earlier in the election, and two supervisors, Edmund Roman, and Terry Trout.

Stewart reportedly formed a campaign committee and is expected to run at the council level, administrative level.

Stewart and Trout have been intense in their campaign, and one or both are expected to run prior to the final election.

Stewart is presently a bar owner in the city. Bizek has a liquor license and has purchased land near the city.

Stewart is the uproar surrounding the sale of the liquor license in 1971, it is likely that he will seek office. He is still considering a run.

Carmichael's administration has been under attack from five of the city's residents. President, Perry, Ellis Pennington, and Bizek Jr., and Edwards.

Stewart expected that the organization set up will campaign against certain council members as in favor of Bizek.

Stewart's constant council-mayor's eroded the traditional administrative prerogatives to that Carmichael has abdicated his powers to the council for the time being on the assumption that the people of Romulus will elect to re-elect several councilmen.

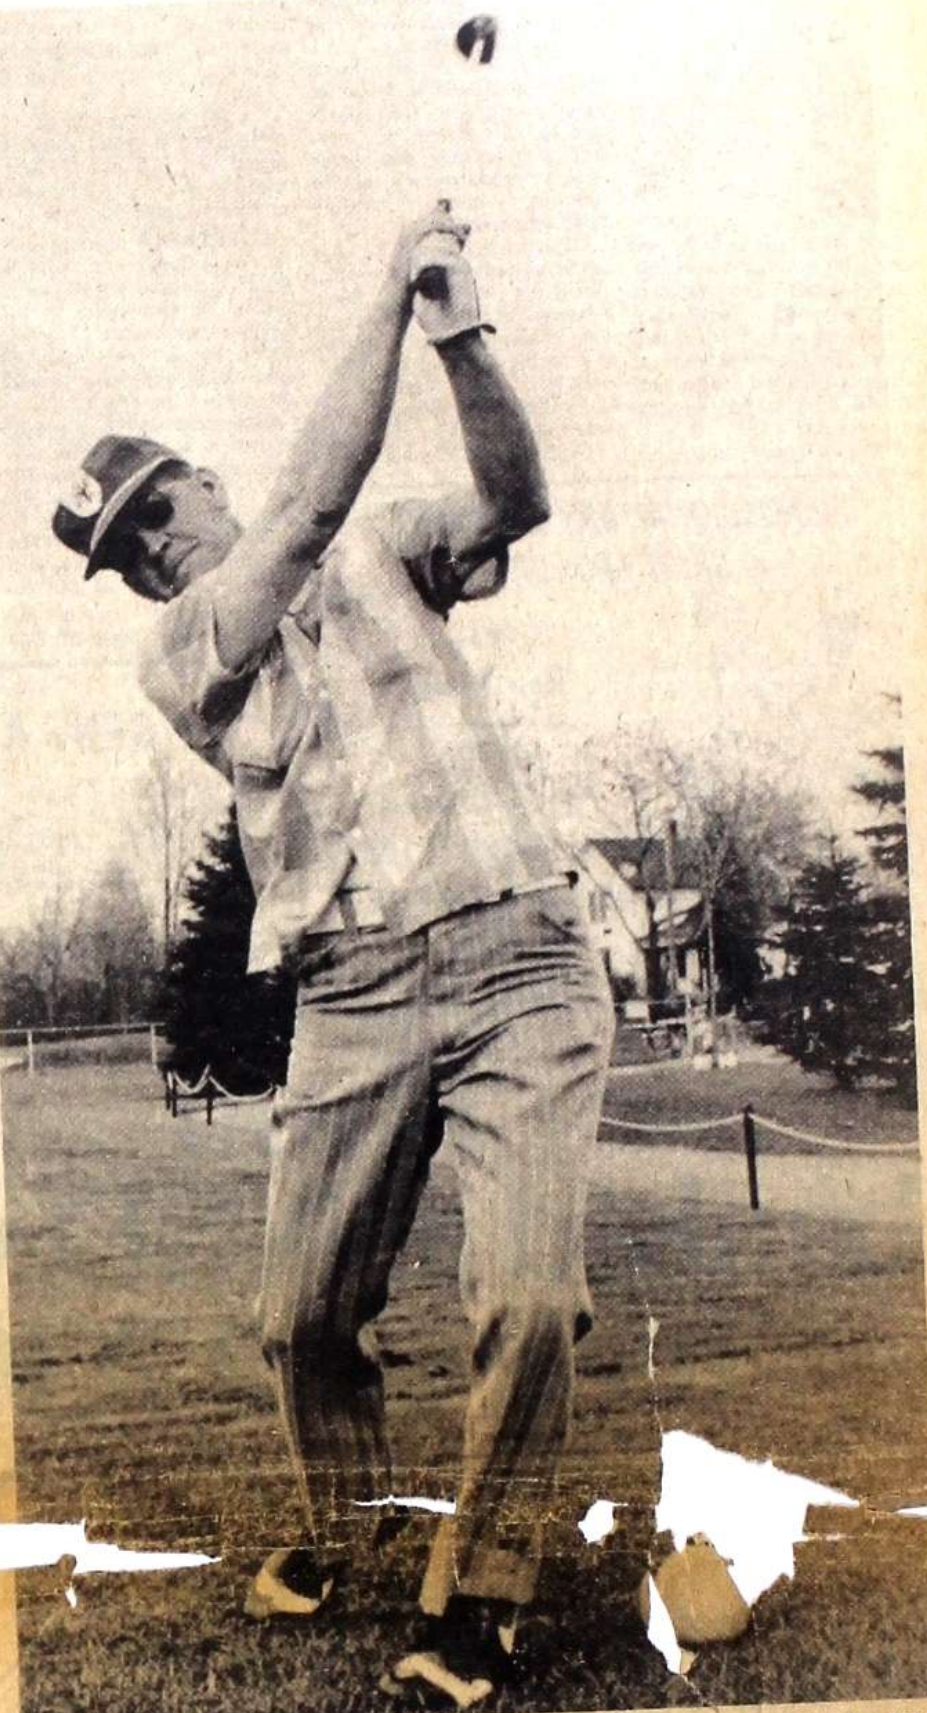

Stewart's councilmen who support the mayor, Fred Junior and William Oakley, are expected to campaign with the Carmichael team although neither has officially indicated his willingness to seek re-election.

One organization likely to back Carmichael and his team will be the city's Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber has been taking the administrative viewpoint concerning road paving and the awarding of liquor licenses in 1971, and is expected to at least help fund some of the mayor's efforts for re-election.

Reportedly, some contributions have come into the Carmichael coffers.

The final filing date in the August primary is May 7. It is likely that the citizens of Romulus will know the entire picture of the Romulus election until after that date.

Council and chamber to air differences

The Romulus Chamber of Commerce and the City Council will air differences at a special meeting set for 5 p.m., Monday at the chamber office, 36518 Goddard Rd.

The meeting was set up after several council members complained about chamber stories regarding the poor state of roads in the city and the dormant conditions of four liquor licenses awarded businessmen more than 18 months ago.

In both cases, the chamber blamed the Romulus City Council for the problem, first stating that the council had failed to allocate enough funds for road maintenance and also indicating that the liquor licenses should be in use at this time.

THE LIQUOR license question centered on a problem which cropped up shortly after 1970 census figures showed the city was entitled to five new licenses. The city council awarded the five liquor licenses, one to the Shady Hollow Golf Course and four others to four area residents, including Councilman Edmund Bizek's father, Edmund Bizek Sr.

Since that time, the license at the golf course has been in operation, but the remaining four, belonging to Bizek, Joseph Nehra, Gikendall Phoenix and Ronald Makino, have not been put into use.

The council had turned down the Holiday Inn, which had been waiting for a license for the past 10 years, in its request at the time the four residents were granted licenses.

THE FOUR unused licenses cannot be sold until they are put into use for at least six months. The chamber is upset, because the licenses are not being used to benefit the community.

Anyone wishing to attend is asked to contact the chamber ahead of time at 941-2262, to make reservations, since space at the chamber office is limited.

Watergate damages image

By TOM OCHILTREE
Romulus Roman
Washington Bureau

For the longest time the Watergate caper, so far as the Nixon administration was concerned, resembled one of those hard-to-extinguish fires deep in a coal mine.

The mystery and mumbo jumbo surrounding the bugging and break in at the Democratic Party headquarters in the luxury Watergate apartment complex smoldered out of sight and out of mind of the American public for months after a group of intruders were caught red-handed in the headquarters last June 17.

Now the political flames of that escapade threaten to singe President Nixon's place in history and damage the Republican Party image in the next election.

REPORTS reaching Washington from various parts of the country indicate that the public suddenly has caught on that something terribly amiss went on at the Watergate.

The Watergate affair, it seems, will not flicker out until the public becomes convinced it has been told the whole story — including what if any links the plotters may have enjoyed with important figures in the administration and in Nixon's election campaign organization.

So long as the Watergate case continues smoking it will erode President Nixon's political authority in a whole range of issues in his confrontation with Congress including his impoundment of appropriated funds and his use of executive privilege to balk congressional inquiries.

Two Republican senators — Connecticut's Lowell P. Weicker and Barry Goldwater of Arizona — have expressed growing Republican concern at all levels of the party about the course being taken by the Watergate affair.

ONE REASON the public was so slow in showing interest was the confused cast of characters involved in the caper.

No one has a very clear idea who James W. McCord, Jr.; G. Gordon Liddy; Bernard L. Barker; Eugenio R. Martinez; Frank A. Sturgis and Virgilio R. Gonzalez were and exactly what they were up to.

The picture is hardly any clearer now than it was 10 months ago. One idea, however, has become fastened in the public mind. The Watergate case undoubtedly involved breaking and entering, a felony any way you look at it.

It can be argued that Watergate has been blown out of proportion. Indeed, that was the assessment most commonly heard until recently.

People with any political sophistication know that political parties since the early days of the republic have kept a close watch on each other tinged now and then with espionage.

THE FIRST mystery about Watergate was why the bugging effort was undertaken in the first place. As it turned out the whole operation was completely superfluous since President Nixon thrashed George

For Huron residents

Library services extended

The Huron Board of Education recently approved a plan for extended library hours and increased service for Huron Township residents.

The plan calls for books supplied by the Wayne County Federation Library at the former New Boston Elementary School to be transported next fall to the Huron High School and to be distributed by the school staff.

Leo Dinnan, Wayne County library official said "this will enable the libraries to save money and buy more books."

CURRENTLY, the county library is open only two nights a week and costs the township about $8,000 a year to operate, said Mary Lou Carey, township clerk.

She added that the cost to the township is approximately $5 per loaned book for the service. "We could buy books at that price," she said.

When the two libraries are combined (hopefully in September) volunteers and school staff will man the library for 10 hours a day.

At the present time the Wayne County library is open eight hours a week.

A recently organized group called Community Council proposed combining the two libraries.

THE COMMUNITY council's organizer, Roger Benner, said the need for additional library services in the township has been caused in part, by night students in the Huron High School Adult Education program.

The night students were finding it difficult to obtain books from the Wayne County Library due to the short period it is open to the public during the week.

Cost-conscious travel can 'bunk' at univers

MARQUETTE — There is something new happening in higher education that should appeal to cost-conscious travelers.

Northern Michigan University's residence halls will be open for the second consecutive summer to visitors who wish to take advantage of all that is available on campus and throughout Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Last summer's program proved to be very successful. Approximately 2,000 tourists streamed onto Northern's campus in just a little over two months. People came from all across the United States and Canada and stayed in the residence halls.

WHAT DID they think of it?

A couple from Virginia wrote:

"Our vacation would have become a disaster and cut short had we not received such delightful accommodations at your lovely university."

"Our four children enjoyed the spacious campus when we returned each day from sight-seeing. Needless to say, having a washer and dryer near-by made mom's task of keeping clean clothes available easier."

"Thanks again for making six Virginians able to have six fun-filled days for such reasonable rates. We shall long remember our Michigan trip in the summer of 1972."

How do the accommodations benefit the summer visitor?

On campus there are stage productions, seminars and clinics, sport activities, guest lecturers and artists, recreational facilities, and summer session courses — something to interest everyone regardless of age. Many of these are free of charge.

To add even more varsity, the Upper Peninsula has some of the best fishing anywhere, whether on clean inland lakes or rugged Lake Superior.

EXCELLENT opportunities for swimming and boating exist, and there are plenty of places for picnicking in the unsurpassed beauty of forests which haven't been touched since the logging boom around the turn of the century.

Iron mines to visit, ore boats to watch at the docks, and museums in which to browse are all available in the Marquette area.

Those who want to combine the educational experience of travel with that of the informal setting of a university's summer program will find the accommodations well as a bargain to reasonable university's accommodations also include comfort and convenience.

EACH prepared guest room or suite includes linens, blankets, a refrigerator, a private laundry facilities, ice, a color television in the lounge for your use. Two four hour desk service, lounges and recreation equipment and facilities available at no extra cost. university cafeteria available to provide nourishing meals at reasonable rates.

Reservations are available from May 20 through August 19 for rooms or suites. A room accommodates a maximum of three and a suite consisting of two separate adjoining rooms with bath, a maximum of four.

For groups there also complete conference facilities available. Rates are available upon request.

Road patrol question still has no solution

By HENRY CANTIN
The question of future law enforcement services to Wayne County townships remains unresolved following a meeting between township officials and a committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The meeting of top-level governmental administrators was held Tuesday, April 17, in the City-County Building in Detroit.

The session was called by the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The meeting was termed by some township supervisors as having an all-out important bearing on the future services by the county sheriff's road patrol in the communities of Brownstown, Canton, Huron, Northville, Plymouth, Sumpter and Van Buren townships.

THE SHERIFF'S department has at least five road patrol cars on duty around the clock in the 210-mile area formed by the affected townships.

The Detroit meeting was adjourned after nearly two hours of discussion brought no indication of resolution of the dispute.

Committee chairman Michael J. Reilly (D-Detroit) representing the 17th District, said that he would hold another meeting in three weeks.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners funded the road patrol division of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department only until Aug. 31 in this year's budget, in line with its earlier policy decision eventually to end free patrol service for townships.

HOWEVER, Huron Township Supervisor George W. Moore, who is also president of the Wayne County Supervisors Association, contended at the meeting that state law requires the county to provide patrol service to townships. He pointed out that his township is on record as being ready to take the issue to court.

It was recently reported that the supervisors association has a legal fund in excess of $9,000 to finance cost of court litigation, if necessary.

Other township supervisors argued that the townships cannot afford to establish their own police departments. "There are 10 townships in Wayne County."

Board of Commissioners Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick said the board's position is not to fund patrol services for the townships unless the townships help pay the cost.

UNDERSHERIFF Loren Pittman said the townships appeared to have three alternatives - to contract with the sheriff for patrol services, to establish their own police forces, or to create a coordinated inter-township patrol.

Reilly said, "We are aware of the fact that the townships have fiscal problems as does the county. What we're asking is that they make some contribution or at least come through with a plan to do so over a period of years."

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer said all the townships are building up public safety forces, "But you're asking us to assume the burden too fast, before we can afford it."

During the three-week adjournment of the meeting, Gollwitzer said that the supervisors will be getting together to work out something to present to the commissioners.

GOLLWITZER also pointed out that some of the county commissioners were sympathetic with our predicament. "They realize we can't get similar law enforcement services without a vote for additional millage."

County Commissioner Mary E. Dumas, of Livonia, R-Dist. 19, said Northville Township, which is in her district, provides its own police coverage 16 hours a day and wants only eight hours of coverage from the sheriff.

"Townships should be able to contract for just what they want from the sheriff without having to hire 24-hour service," she told the committee. She requested a report on the cost of eight hours' coverage for the township.

Northville Township Supervisor Lawrence A. Wright declared:

"We are entitled to adequate protection. We feel we are not getting our money's worth."

However, Reilly countered after the meeting: "If you want to approach it from the standpoint of what tax dollars they are paying, there are communities paying more than the townships and getting a heck of a lot less."

He pointed out that cities also pay the county property tax but do not receive free police service from the county. There are 33 cities in the county.

Huron, Northville and Van Buren were the only townships present at the meeting.

High rise apartments may be built in city

High rise apartments on 32 acres of land in the Beverly Urban Renewal area may be on the slate for Romulus.

The city council was to consider approving the rezoning of the 32 acre tract near Merriman and Beverly Roads for the 740-unit high rise apartment complex, to be built in two 12-story towers and eight 5-story towers.

Rents in the proposed complex, to be known as the Place de Internationale, will range from $155 for efficiency apartments up to $228 for two-bedroom apartments.

THE CITY'S planning commission recommended approval of the rezoning, although there is no multiple zoning classification in the city's zoning ordinance, at its March 19 meeting.

At that time, a public hearing drew few complaints from residents abutting the complex.

The complex is proposed to have 32 efficiency apartments, 384 one-bedroom apartments and 324 two-bedroom apartments in the ten tower complex which will feature a multi-national motif.

Romulus Mayor Hyle Carmichael has gone on record in support of the rezoning, stating, "It would be a great boost to the tax base of the city, and is an important addition to the development near Metropolitan Airport."

Carmichael, as a member of the planning commission, voted in favor of the rezoning.

According to Corral Enterprises, "Place de Internationale will be unique among housing developments in Western Wayne County as it will offer a mode of living that will be permanently fashionable."

'A fourth seacoast will vanish'

USA-Canada pact could save shipping

(Last of a Four Part Series)

WASHINGTON — Changing a situation which many ocean-going shippers say is putting a stranglehold on international trade in the Great Lakes is going to require action by both Canada and the United States.

The requirement that ocean-going ships using the St. Lawrence Seaway and the Great Lakes have a pilot aboard is the issue.

The Pilot, who is a master mariner and in all likelihood a former Great Lakes ship captain, is supposed to guide the foreign vessel through the complexities of the Seaway's inland waters.

For this service, many shipping officials have complained that they are paying exorbitantly.

SHIPPING AGENTS point to pilotage bills which are $7,000 to $10,000 for a round trip from Montreal.

Casting their eyes on what they say are the less expensive ports of the east and west coasts, the officials also complain about featherbedding, charges for pilotage when it is not required and not wanted.

These extra costs, the shippers say are discouraging ocean-going ships from coming into the Great Lakes region where the Seaway trade provides jobs for an estimated 85,710 families.

These jobs are according to some officials in jeopardy of being lost to other areas where costs are lower.

MORE SPECIFICALLY, they talk about instances such as in Duluth, Minn. where if a ship captain has a certain license he is not required to take a pilot on board.

But, the shippers say, if the captain refuses the pilot or if he refuses to pay the pilotage bill, he is threatened with not getting labor to unload or load his vessel.

The biggest gripe seems to be the requirement of having to have a pilot in the open waters of the Great Lakes which the shippers and some pilots say is like having a guide take you over an expressway which is long and straight.

Proposals for changing the system are aimed at what many officials call the main weaknesses of pilotage which was made compulsory when the St. Lawrence Seaway opened in 1960.

To provide pilots for the ocean-going vessels, the U.S. government awarded three franchises covering three geographic areas from the entrance of the Seaway to the head of Lake Superior.

PILOTS GET PAID by the trip so the more they work the more money they earn. (Pilot's salaries in the upper Great Lakes were estimated to be $46,000 for a little over 200 days work in 1971.)

Canadians seem to agree, both the government and shipping officials that this is one requirement which should be abandoned.

"This (the ports) is where you have the extraordinary conditions where a skipper needs a pilot," a Canadian shipping agent said.

Werner Burchard, executive director of the Great Lakes Shipping Association in Chicago agrees.

"But the thing to watch out for," Burchard said, "is that the pilots don't try to regain what they lost through open water pilotage by charging higher rates for port pilotage."

Captain John Aspin, head of marine operations for the Shipping Federation of Canada, makes an addition to the proposal.

He wants to see the U.S. government hire its own pilots and not have the job to someone else.

DELAYS BECAUSE of a lack of a pilot are commonplace, according to Aspin, and "they are costly, costing as much as $3,500 to $4,000 per day for a good-sized vessel."

"It doesn't matter to them (the pilots) how long the ship is delayed because at some stage they are going to send a pilot," he adds.

"The pilot is going to undertake that task and he is going to get money in his pocket," Aspin said. "It's no skin off their nose how long the vessel is delayed."

In addition to proposing that all U.S. and Canadian pilots be made civil servants, he proposes that the Seaway and the Great Lakes be divided in two parts for administration of pilotage.

ACCORDING TO HIS plan and the one proposed by several other Canadians, the U.S. would be responsible for pilotage in an area west of Port Colborne which is at the eastern tip of Lake Erie.

By WES THORP, Daily Eagle Lansing Bureau

This would give the Canadians control of everything east including the Seaway and the Welland Canal.

One of the goals Aspin said, would be the prevention of conflicts between U.S. and Canadian pilots.

"Some of the Canadian pilots have complained that the Americans keep all of the good assignments for themselves," he said. "This leads to friction."

Another conflict between the groups is the way they are employed with most of the Canadians civil servants employed by the government and the Americans who work for themselves.

"WHAT THIS MEANS," Aspin explained, "is that the Americans (pilots) hope for a real busy season because they know the more they work the more they get paid."

On the other hand, he continued, the Canadians know that no matter how much they work they will get paid the same.

The Department of Transportation task force sidesteps this question in its report by just recommending that the present structure be retained.

Whatever system is adopted, a shipping agent in Chicago said: "They better do something quick about all these charges or the hopes for the Seaway opening up the Great Lakes as a fourth seacoast will vanish."

Home assessment method is unfair

James Gray's proposed "dream" legislation may never come true, but the Warren Democrat deserves support for spearheading property assessment reform.

State Sen. Gray suggests that persons who improve upon their owner-occupied dwellings be exempt from local property taxes.

The senator says his proposal would be limited to single-family owner-occupied homes and stresses the exempt clause would not be applicable to apartments, duplexes and businesses.

Being realistic, the senator must know his dream legislation will never clear the State Legislature - but it does merit consideration.

Home owners throughout Western Wayne County strive to improve upon their homes, only to learn at a later date the assessment has gone up - because of the improvement.

In the case of expansion, an added room or finished attic - then the assessment is rightful. But to penalize a home owner for conducting routine improvements is wrong and unfair.

The home owner who decides to stay on in his home by improving the "dream house" with brick siding can expect to pay an increased assessment.

The home owner who encloses the porch with a touch of artistic styling - pays a higher assessment.

The government spends millions of dollars in urban renewal and community development programs - at a staggering cost in tax dollars. But Private Citizen Smith improves his home at no cost to the government and his assessment goes up.

Gray's proposed legislation would limit property tax to land use, which we find agreeable. But a formula to help the home improvement-minded home owner would in order.

Too often "dream bills" die because they are just that - Dream Bills. The good senator would be wise to alter his bill, if he was Senate and House backing.

A bill allowing a tax break for home improvement has a better chance ... it deserves the support of state legislators representing Western Wayne County.

'RAINDROPS KEEP FALLIN' ON MY HEAD'

A new sense of purpose Africa live

By JOHN P. McGOFF, President
Panax Newspapers

(Second of Nine-Part Series)

JOHANNESBURG, SA — Pax Britannica and the enforced peace imposed by their thrust toward a colonial empire have virtually disintegrated as the African continent seeks roots for its freedom.

The continent unburdened itself of adventurers from across the seas, and now faces its own problems with the new Black Africa.

Citizens of the Republic of South Africa are meeting this challenge in novel and interesting ways amid swift and radical changes, finding their way to a new sense of purpose and trying to find their role.

The year 1960 accelerated the processes of adjustment, the year when the Union of South Africa became a republic by referendum.

IT WAS THE YEAR that British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan told South Africa it should be on its own, outside the British fold, to face an emerging Africa without Pax Britannica.

And without the superimposed controls, it was a year of bloody riots where South Africans watched with horror the destruction of the Belgian Congo and the assassination attempt on South African Prime Minister Hendrick Verwoerd, the year they observed their 50th anniversary as the Union of South Africa.

In that year, South Africans held a republican referendum and in May ended their Commonwealth relationship with the British.

Freedom and independence were at war with the reverse tides of disapproval and agitation. The new republic was ripe for a fundamental constitutional change which had been resisted by the English-speaking whites.

THERE WAS TALK of ships and men for blockades and invasion, and hospital forces worked out timetables.

It was a house badly divided, the stuff of nightmares, but the condition deeply affected the national spirit and explains a great deal of what has happened in the ensuing 13 years.

The country was aroused to a fiercely patriotic and defensive mood that still exists. The clear message of those events found expression in army, military training, policing, uprooting subversion, stockpiling.

There arose the accusations that South Africa had become a police state. The evidence is flimsy or nonexistent but the image lingers rampant on a field of misunderstanding.

THE MORE positive results of arming was the buttressing of the economy and, most important, a new hard look at race relations and a speeding up of the processes of growth and self-realization within the general framework of separate and parallel development for the white and black populations.

It meant controlled change under increasing self-government, and responsibility. White South Africans cannot forget that they must live with their creations in Africa, and the risks have to be minimized.

They began to achieve a unity with the people that the English and African never believed possible and republicanism ended the violent legacy of the Boer War which bothered both the English and Afrikaners.

THERE GREW in those years an acceptance of republicanism by its former enemies and South Africa parted company with the past; the defensive era diminished and converted to emphasis on a common destiny.

Now South Africans believe they have earned a reprieve from the insular life - an Israel of Africa - in which the family of nations cast them, and are ready to take their place as a world power.

While maintaining their military and economic defenses, they emphasize their peaceful aims and have offered up their impressive natural resources as a sort of generating power station to the marketplaces of the world.

South Africans deny any contradiction between their policy of separate and parallel development in their own country and the goal of cooperation with black states outside their borders.

Their internal policy prepared the way for what they describe as a sensible and practical good neighbor policy which continues to be implemented in the independent black states of Botswana, Lesotho, and Malawi.

SOUTH AFRICAN leaders say outsiders are working for a white-black confrontation to reduce the nation's potential. But still South Africa continues and increases its outward-looking efforts.

It has maintained its equilibrium with troubled Rhodesia and its leaders have joined with reason the debate in the United Nations over South West Africa. Efforts are now being made to provide independence and self-government for South West Africa's many nations.

With a military stockpile discouraging incursions, South Africa still has accepted trade boycotts, including the United States' arms embargo, as passing irritations.

South Africa's value as a trading partner has become more visible amid intense competition and world currency devaluations. The nation was not affected by the latest devaluation of the dollar because of its strong economic position.

STILL A MAJOR problem is the indefinite closure of the Suez Canal, which has underscored the importance of the Cape sea route around the Southern tip of the continent, which South African Prime Minister B.J. Vorster believes is an indispensable link to western trade and security.

Both black and white leadership in South Africa believe that the world vendetta against South Africa is part of the struggle for world power.

They believe that in this struggle, South Africa is potentially as important a front line as Berlin, the Eastern Mediterranean, and until recently Southeast Asia. They believe South Africa is a time bomb, ticking.

Recognition due

To the Editor:

In last week's edition of the Enterprise-Roman there was an article recognizing top students at Eastern Michigan University from the Belleville area that were honored at the 25th Honors Convocation at Pease Auditorium on April 4.

It doesn't seem fair that the New Boston students so honored were not given any recognition by their local newspaper. Our daughter, Gayle Anne Dilks, who is completing her sophomore year, has a cumulative average of 3.93. She worked very hard to maintain this average.

We personally know of two other students from New Boston who were honored that same evening, but don't know their exact grade point averages. They are Beverly Istvan and Nancy Tillotson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dilks
New Boston

Editor's Note: Dear proud parents, we, too, share your pride, but would like to point out that information on award-winning students from colleges and universities comes from these institutions. For some reason no such list of New Boston area students came our way. As your local newspaper we thank you for taking the time to write, and trust this belated recognition will reaffirm that we do care about the people who we strive to serve.

'Great potential'

Shipping season may be extended

By TOM OCHILTREE
Daily Eagle Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Rep. Philip E. Ruppe, R-Mich., called on the Federal Government last week to launch a detailed study of what it will cost taxpayers to provide winter navigation on the Great Lakes and to balance that cost against potential economic benefits.

Further, he asked for an indepth study of the environmental implications of an extended shipping season.

He issued a report by the General Accounting Office (GAO), Congress' watchdog agency, which he said painted "a sad picture of a minimal federal effort to consider, much less study, the broad environmental questions" involved in any effort to keep the Great Lakes open the year around.

"WINTER NAVIGATION on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Seaway may hold great potential," he said. "I am not disputing this. My concern is that the Federal Government not make a blank check commitment without determining the economic, technical and environmental feasibility of this program for the general public."

In 1970 Congress authorized a demonstration program to provide a practical test of proposals for winter navigation. That program was implemented for the first time in the winter of 1971-72. During fiscal 1972, a total of $740,000 - including $60,000 for management by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers - was allocated for program activities.

Those who favor keeping the lakes open all winter-including official as well as private groups in Michigan-insist such an arrangement would be a great stimulus to prosperity in the middle west.

John P. McGoff, President of Panax Corporation, has been a leading supporter of winter navigation. He heads a special committee on the subject set up by the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

TAKING A SOMEWHAT different tack, Ruppe said: "Let me make it clear that I agree with the proponents of the winter navigation demonstration project who say that an extended shipping season may potentially be of great economic benefit to the Great Lakes region."

"However, I have always stated that certain economic, environmental and human considerations should be taken into full account before the Congress invests a sizable amount of federal capital in year around shipping on a regular basis."

He said the GAO study, which he himself had requested last year, "points out some very serious shortcomings with the demonstration program to date."

CAP decorates member

1st Lt. George Cantrell, 26050 Beverly, Taylor, has been awarded the Meritorious Service Decoration by the Civil Air Patrol.

The decoration ranks fifth highest of all awards given by the Air Force Auxiliary. Since the Detroit Metropolitan Group 16 of CAP was first organized in 1965, only one other member has been afforded this honor.

The decoration, awarded for service above and beyond the call of duty while serving in a position of great responsibility, was earned for services rendered in early December, 1972.

A field trip had been planned to take local CAP cadets on a tour of the USAF Museum at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio. In his capacity as group safety officer, Lt. Cantrell insisted on making the bus which was to be used as safe mechanically as possible. Even though he was still recovering from a severe case of influenza, Cantrell spent more than eight hours lying in mud and freezing slush, working on the vehicle. Before he had finished, the temperature had fallen below 5 degrees Fahrenheit.

After a few hours sleep, 1-Lt

Cantrell was one of the first up and in uniform for the trip. The five hour drive to Dayton was uneventful, but upon arriving it was discovered that the rear brake lights had failed. Further examination showed that complete re-wiring was called for. Many men would simply have not bothered about it, but Cantrell is a different sort of man. While the Cadets toured the Museum, he again spent several hours on his back under the bus, on cold, damp parking lot pavement, completely re-wiring the rear lighting system. Lieutenant Cantrell had never visited the museum and had been looking forward to the visit: the parking lot was as close as he ever got.

No one ordered Cantrell to take these actions. He gave voluntarily of his knowledge and skills hours of difficult physical labor under grueling conditions solely so our Cadets could travel safely. No glamor attached to his actions, yet his conscientious devotion to duty, constant willingness to give of his skills and labor even under the most extreme conditions and his acceptance of responsibility were typified by his actions. It was this willingness to take that extra step, to do a job just because it needed doing, that earned 1-Lt Cantrell this high honor.

The award elements of the Meritorious Service Decoration include a certificate and a ribbon to be worn on the CAP uniform. Of such importance is the decoration that it requires the approval of the CAP Region Commander before it may be awarded. The Region Commander is that CAP Officer in command of an area that includes several states, in this case six states including Michigan. There are only 8 Region Commanders in the entire CAP.

Ford proposes Tax deductible car insurance

WASHINGTON, D.C. — U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-15 District) has co-sponsored legislation to allow automobile insurance premiums as a federal income tax deduction. "This bill has two very important goals," Congressman Ford declared. "It would help close the unfair cost gap between motorists who carry proper insurance and those who do not. Secondly, it would help balance the present inequitable situation which permits employers to deduct, from their taxable income, any contributions they make toward their employees' car insurance."

Congressman Ford pointed out, also, that the legislation would help relieve the crushing tax burden now being borne by middle and low-income Americans.

"Too often," he said, "we make changes in the Income Tax laws which aid only those at the top of the income ladder. This bill will help every American who owns a car, and that includes the great bulk of the American people."

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Many things seem wrong these days. More and more people complain that we have accepted, or at least tolerate conditions and situations which people in previous generations would never permit. Complaints are heard about personal pleasures, wild pleasures in human behavior, intellectual arrogance is seen in some politicians and public officials who in some areas seek votes through promises known to be morally and spiritually wrong. Unreasonable zealots are seen intimidating authorities. Lunatic violence, judicial processes and courts boldly rebuffed. And to these complaints you can add your own to an endless list.

Good intentioned people are bewildered by the dilemma of moral values turned topsy-turvy. What can be done about it? For one thing it certainly is not helpful to condemn everything and everybody. And we certainly don't need "new" concepts for correction of our faults. It should be obvious we need more adherence to the old rules, obedience to the 10 commandments. We need faith in religious reliance and an alliance with God...

Dargos honeymoon in Hawaiian Islands

Three bridesmaids wearing gowns in shades of blue attended Janet Lee Modzelewski at her recent wedding to James A. Dargo, the nuptials solemnized at St. Anthony's Church, the Rev. Raymond S. Skoney officiating.

Vows and rings were exchanged before an altar decorated with arrangements of white pompon mums flanked by candelabra. White bows knotted with fresh greens marked the family pews for the late afternoon rite. Music for the ceremony included an organ selection - the Prelude to Romeo and Juliet.

ESCORTED TO THE altar by her father, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Modzelewski of 20684 Sumpter Rd., Belleville.

For the ceremony, she chose a gown in a modified Victorian mode carried out in organza and lace. Lace reembroidered with sequins and beading accented the high neckline, bodice front, bangle sleeves and the A-line skirt that ended in a graceful train. Lace also trimmed the mantilla-veil that was draped over a lace Camelot headpiece. The bride's flowers were a cascade of white roses, stephanotis, ivy and lilies of the valley, accented with a few red roses.

Preceding the bride in the role of matron of honor, Mrs. Phyllis Lee Johnson of Belleville, sister of the bride, wore a gown styled with a bodice of royal blue velvet and skirt of gracefully-draped chiffon in a powder blue shade. The bodice was complemented with sheer light blue chiffon bishop sleeves with wide cuffs of the contrasting blue velvet. Sequins defined the waistline. A royal blue bow headpiece secured a blue net blush veil and she carried white carnations, blue-feathered carnations and stephanotis, tied with royal blue streamers.

THE BRIDESMAIDS were Miss Gaylinn Phillips of Belleville, a close friend of the bride, and Miss Nancy

Study Club welcomes newcomers

The Junior Study Club of Belleville held its April meeting at the Angela Street home of Pat Touse, with Pat Gamble and Barb Boelter as co-hostesses to the 15 members and guest, Diane Wilson.

An official club welcome was extended to the newest members, Jayne Atchinson, Elaine Burgess and Sharon Matthews, who were presented with candles in glass holders.

It was "get-acquainted" time for the club members, who enjoyed filling out an amusing questionnaire, and after it was concluded, winners were Pat Touse, Shar Tator, Phyllis Smith and Joyce Atchinson.

On the business agenda for the evening was the mapping of plans for the card party, with Suzie Druker and Martha Conley as co-chairmen. The club also decided to donate $25 to the Kidney Foundation and it was announced that the picnic table purchased by the club for the library was installed.

The Women's Study Club has also been invited to tour Meadowbrook Hall on the campus of Oakland University on May 12.

Tucker, also of Belleville, cousin of the bride. Their ensembles were duplicates of that of the matron of honor, theirs accented with a silver band at the waistline. They also carried blue and white carnations with blue streamers.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dargo of 47005 Willis Rd., Belleville, asked his brother, David Dargo, to carry out the duties of best man. Groomsmen were Michael Fahey of Oak Park, close friend of the bridegroom, and Steven Krystyniak of Belleville, cousin of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Modzelewski chose a ensemble in light turquoise complemented by a pink carnation corsage, while Mrs. Dargo wore a formal mint green costume with matching green carnations in her corsage.

A DINNER-RECEPTION for 300 was held at the Moose Lodge in Milan following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a four tiered wedding cake topped with a jeweled heart accented with two white doves in flight. The newlyweds were serenaded by James Martin, friend of the bridegroom, who sang "Let It Be Me."

The Hawaiian Islands was the honeymoon destination for the newlyweds, who spent two weeks there.

The new Playtex SLIM 'n TRIM Swimsuit. It helps you look pounds younger.

OLD ME

I'm not exactly fat, but I'm not exactly thin anymore, either. So when I wore an ordinary swimsuit, it showed more of me than I wanted it to. In fact, I used to feel pretty self-conscious at the beach. But not anymore. I haven't lost weight, but now I wear the new Playtex Slim 'n Trim swimsuit.

THE SLIM 'n TRIM ME

This is how I look in the new Playtex Slim 'n Trim Swimsuit. And I'm not holding my tummy in either! It's made of Playtex's miracle fabric Spanette™, so it holds me in and slims me down comfortably—without pushing me out someplace else. Now if somebody on the beach doesn't look at me, I feel insulted.

People should apply early for social security card

only screened against files at the National Record Center in to make sure no number time," said Louis Levine, social security district manager, "but it's important to keep your social security record straight."

A YOUNG worker builds disability, survivors, retirement, and Medicare protection for himself and his family by work and earnings credited to his social security number.

A worker should show his employer his social security card so his name and social security number can be correctly copied for the employer's records," Levine said. "You should never give our employer your social security number from memory."

"Your social security number is yours alone and remains the same for life." The social security card stub or a record of the social security number should always be kept in a safe place.

"IF YOU LOSE the social security card you carry in your purse or wallet, you can get a duplicate faster if you have the stub or a record of your number," he said.

Levine also reminded those people who wish a duplicate social security card to apply early for a replacement because it will be several weeks before the duplicate can be issued.

Fire is the most common cause of home loss, according to Don Costa, safety director for the Allstate Insurance Company.

It is estimated that property destroyed by fire during 1972 totaled $2.96 billion, an increase of more than $200 million over 1971. And deaths in 1972 dwelling fires amount to more than 6,600.

"The irony behind these tragic statistics lies in the fact that very few homeowners know much about home fire safety, and even fewer take any serious precautions," Costa warns.

When a blaze starts, it is too late to consider what should have been done. Precautions should be taken regularly to guard against fire.

In order for homeowners to make the most out of their fire protection, Allstate's safety director recommends the following procedures:

—MAKE SURE each family member knows how to report a fire. Always keep the fire department number near the phone, along with other important numbers such as police and medical aid.

—Store flammable solvents in fire-proof containers out-main gas valve to turn it off in an emergency.

—Check the pilot lights of the furnace and water heater at regular intervals.

—Store all flammable materials away from the furnace.

—Know the location and purpose of the fuse box.

—NEVER OVERLOAD electrical outlets. It is surprising how many homeowners disregard this common safety rule.

—Use covered metal containers for rubbish and waste paper, and move trash outside the house.

—If the home has a fireplace, make certain it has a screen. Children and others inexperienced in the art of building a safe fire should always be kept away from the fireplace.

—Keep a small fire extinguisher handy for kitchen and workshop use.

Having the security of homeowners or fire insurance is not enough. A few spare minutes of thought and effort often mean the difference between a happy home and a fire trap," Costa added.

Christmas tree growing Thursday confab topic

Planting Christmas trees could be a profitable enterprise for absentee landowners in the metropolitan Detroit area. Thousands of southeastern Michiganders are investing in tracts of land for recreational purposes. It is very likely that some of this land could be developed into a profit-making business.

Recent surveys, conducted by Lester Bell, Michigan State University Extension forestry specialist, have indicated a steady decline in the production of Christmas trees in Michigan. Conversely, the wholesale price per tree is steadily increasing - the demand is now beginning to outstrip the supply. Bell predicts there will be a shortage of trees by 1975.

GED testing set May 11-12

The Romulus Community School District Continuing Education Program will offer General Education Development (GED) tests May 11 and 12, William Smith, community school director, announced Monday.

The 10-hour examination will be given at the Romulus High School, 9650 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus, from 6 to 10 p.m. on Friday, May 11, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, May 12.

Individuals are requested to register for the test by calling 941-1600 (12 to 5 p.m.) before May 4. A $10 testing fee is required.

A Christmas tree seminar will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 26, in the auditorium of the UAW Hall, 9650 Telegraph Rd., between Goddard and Wick, Taylor. The program will take interested absentee landowners through various steps necessary to determine whether the location is suitable, recommended tree varieties, anticipated expenses, and probable returns or profits.

Creative decorating easy with color panels

Color, ever since humans first learned to extract it from nature and put it to use, has been the magic ingredient in home decorating. It is at once the least expensive and the most powerful tool at the decorator's command. It has the power to make the eye see or overlook, to lift spirits or ease tensions, to create any desired mood.

Little wonder that today's homemakers have opened their doors to color — not just in highlights here and there, but whole walls of it — in brighter, livelier shades.

The psychological power of color is being put to work as never before. Take the kitchen for example, where color power makes it easier to "whistle while you work."

The kitchen walls and cabinets are finished with the newest addition to the line of paneling. The lightweight plywood mix and match panels come ready to install and feature a surface that is washable, scuff-proof and fade-proof.

The paneling is available in a rainbow of colors selected by House & Garden magazine, which for years has set color standards followed by designers, architects and hundreds of manufacturers of homebuilding materials, furnishings and accessories.

There are bright hues like pineapple and bittersweet, the latter used in the kitchen in combination with contrasting oyster white; the kitchen connects with the family room, which also uses bittersweet panel for accent color mixed with pecan hardwood paneling.

Almost unlimited combinations are available with regular hardwood panels, making it easy to achieve a fashion-right decorating scheme for every room in the house.

Color selection, mixing and matching come easy with a 34-page booklet compiled by Evans Products Company in cooperation with House & Garden. Called Colorful Creative Decorating, the booklet offers a wealth of decorating tips, all keyed to the 36 House & Garden colors. It tells all about color power and how to put it to work.

To turn your home on to color effectively, say the House & Garden experts, examine your own preferences and use a color or colors that particularly delight you.

To help you find the right color in home items ranging from building materials to bedding and from paints to paper products, the Evans booklet includes a classified directory listing several hundred manufacturers who use House & Garden colors.

Don't be afraid to saturate a room with a favorite color. Used in broad sweeps, even the most intense hue will look pleasantly calm. White can be introduced for contrast in a one-color room, along with accessories varying in texture and pattern.

These are but a few of the tips set forth in Colorful Creative Decorating. For a free copy, write to The Daily Eagle, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, 48184.

The technique of replacing crumbling mortar between bricks is known as "pointing." More generally, it's simply knowing how to repair damaged brickwork.

Entirely aside from the appearance of a brick wall, chimney or anything else constructed with brick that has started to deteriorate, the matter of water leakage is vital. Rain coming through loose mortar in a single location on an exterior house

When applying the mortar, try not to spread any of it on the surface of the bricks. If any does get on, wipe it off instantly with a wet rag. It is difficult to remove once it begins to harden, which is almost at once.

Finishing off the joints can be done in a variety of ways, but the easiest for the beginner is the V joint. The tip of a pointed trowel is pushed along the joint at a 45-degree angle. This will push out some of the mortar, which is then forced into a V-shape groove. It takes a little practice to get the hang of this, but do not worry if you haven't achieved a perfect result. When the patches have weathered for a few weeks, they are likely to be unnoticed unless someone is looking for them. Bear in mind, however, that no matter how the joint looks, it must be formed to shed rain.

Cotton shades conserve power

Cotton window shades have become so highly decorative that some of their major benefits are often overlooked.

Flower lecture planned

The second lecture in the Michigan Horticultural Society and Michigan State University Garden Lecture Series "How Does Your Garden Grow" will be the demonstration and discussion on "Drying Flowers for Permanent Bouquets" by Marshall Engle, Floricultural Specialist from Greenfield Village.

The program will be presented at the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company's second floor auditorium at No. 1 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, from noon until 1 p.m. on Monday.

Engle is a well-known authority on drying and arranging flowers.

His work can be seen at the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in the dried flower arrangements decorating the rooms and tables in both the Village and the Museum. He also conducts teaching workshops on the subject at the Village spring and fall.

Now is the time to plant and grow the materials which are used for drying and arranging this fall.

There will be no charge for this public service lecture, sponsored by the Michigan Horticultural Society and the Cooperative Extension Service in cooperation with Michigan Consolidated Gas Company.

When a room to be vented in any way has an open fireplace, consult your dealer to avoid excess capacity that could cause a reverse draft in the chimney.

If paint-varnish remover is to be used on vertical surfaces, get the semi-paste type.

Divider adds storage--plus

Open plan interior design and wide window walls compound the home storage problem, as closet opportunities become fewer.

The solution often is a free-standing unit, such as a double-access divider in the kitchen-dining area.

Framed with 2x4-inch

Windows add beauty to whole house

A window's style should contribute to house beauty inside and out. Today's wide style range allows a choice of windows to suit every architectural decor.

Examples are: bows and bays for Colonial homes; double-hungs for traditional; casements and sliders for contemporary. Also, handy removable grilles are available with all ponderosa pine window styles.

They give an elegant small-pane appearance, and lift off the glass for easy window washing. There's just one large pane to clean, instead of many small ones.

In using a paint-varnish remover, be sure to follow the instructions on whether the residue should be washed off with a chemical solvent or water.

Chief among these is the contribution shades can make to conserving electrical power.

With the onset of summer fast approaching and bringing with it a heavy drain on power for air-conditioning, homemakers might do well to include window shades in their summer decorating schemes.

Studies show that shades keep out summer heat and can reduce air-conditioners' power usage by as much as 50 per cent.

Besides helping to conserve the nation's critical energy supply, there's the extra bonus of personal savings that result from lower utility bills.

Cloth window shades have long been noted for their ability to keep household furnishings and even wood floors from fading.

Available in both custom and stock shades is a wide variety of colors, textures, patterns, hem shapes, and installations.

There are even room-darkening shades that make for better sleep in daylight saving time.

Besides conserving electrical power, window shades can go a long way towards easing the homemaker's personal energy crisis, too.

Cotton cloth shades simplify housekeeping because they're dust-repellent and can be easily wiped off or vacuumed.

Many of them also have an invisible vinyl coating so that any dust that accumulates can be sponged off quickly.

COOL IT WITH COTTON SHADES—Save on air-conditioning costs this summer with cotton window shades. Studies show they keep out the heat and can reduce air-conditioners' drain on power by as much as 50 per cent. In this beach house, a ceiling-hung shade laminated with a geometric cotton print provides a flexible means of dividing indoors and out. The shade can be pulled down to shield the room from the hot midday sun, or raised for easy access to swimming. Cotton-covered floor-to-ceiling panels on either side of the window act as connecting links to matching tie-back curtains.

In child's room

Corner bunks save space

Bunk beds built into a corner of a child's bedroom along two walls free floor space for playing and offer a storage bonus.

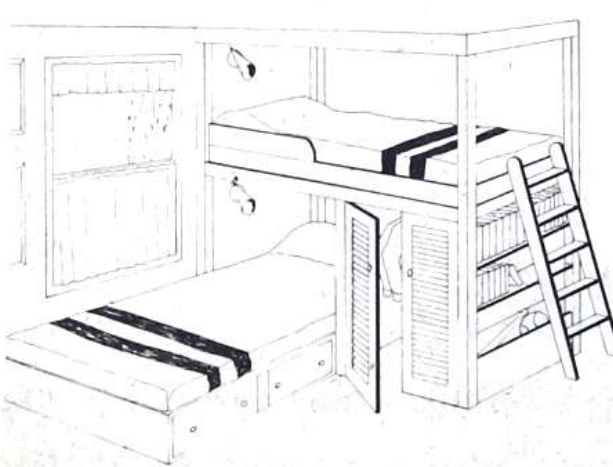

The lower bunk will fit under a window along one wall, utilizing often wasted floor space, and the top bunk is attached at a right angle along the other wall.

Under the projection of the upper bunk, storage shelves and a clothes closet are built in to further conserve space.

Bunk beds are built easily in place, using 4x4-inch western wood corner posts, 2x4-inch framing and board shelves. Louver wood doors allow air circulation in the closet.

Even if only one child occupies the room, the extra bunk permits him to have a friend stay overnight, or his room can become a guest room when needed.

Wide stud spacing cuts building costs

When you are building a house, space those floor joists and wall studs 50 per cent farther apart - at 24 inches instead of 16 - and you'll save from $250 to $500 on framing costs.

Test houses supervised by the National Association of Home Builders have proved it, and both NAHB and the timber industry are promoting this technique for saving on lumber and labor.

All four of the major building code agencies, plus the Federal Housing Administration, accept the 24-inch framing module, which involves floor joists, wall studs and roof trusses.

THE NUMBER of builders who have swung to the wider spacing is growing, but a majority of the more than 100,000 house contractors continue to frame their units at 16-inch centers, thus passing up sure savings.

In hundreds of communities, outdated codes still bar use of the 24-inch system. But local change is merely waiting for someone to take the first step, observes the nationwide technical staff of Western Wood Products Association.

Oftentimes, no builder has asked the building inspector about it, and no home buyer has demanded it of his contractor.

A builder often is reluctant to change to 24-inch spacing, for fear that his competitor down the street will point out to prospective buyers that his framing looks flimsier than 16-inch.

ACTUALLY, controlled tests accepted by code agencies have proved the wider spacing to be fully adequate.

This system requires the next greater thickness for rack-resistant plywood or insulation board to be used as sheathing over the framing skeleton.

Large builders who sell from completed models have no fear of visual comparisons of framing, and put the savings into more useful and appealing items, such as appliances, storage or a wood deck.

But the savings on both lumber quantities and man-hours that are inherent in 24-inch spacing are equally available to the small builder.

A 16-page booklet which explains how the system is applied, is offered free by The Daily Eagle, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne 48184. Ask for "Mod 24."

Trees grow better on fertilized lawn

Trees grow better on a well-fertilized lawn than on unfertilized ground. Where tree roots and grass compete for nutrients, stepped up fertilization may be needed. Most tree roots extend well beyond the canopy spread, and fertilization beyond the drip-line still benefits the tree.

Research shows that typical lawn fertilization can result in the trees gaining from 50 to 100 per cent more height and trunk diameter than trees not receiving such feeding. Indeed the tree canopy, a rough measure of shade, may be two to four times more voluminous when fertilized.

Shade trees are often fed by filling holes bored into the soil with fertilizer. It is doubtful that benefits to the tree are any greater for this method than by spreading fertilizer over the lawn beneath the tree.

It is certainly more economical to spread a fertilizer with a lawn spreader than it is to dig fertilization holes. Incidentally, the latter stimulate tufts of grass growth at the expense of lawn uniformity.

Slow-release lawn fertilizers have much to recommend them for trees as well as grass, and should cause less lawn pocking when fertilizer is buried.

Dutch flood experts eyed for Michigan

State Sen. John E. McCauley (D-Grosse Ile) has recommended that a Dutch organization be hired to help solve the flooding problems of Michigan.

"For centuries, the Netherlands has been fighting flooding with success," McCauley said. "Over 40 per cent of the land in that country lies below mean sea level, and three major rivers add to the water problem."

McCauley said that he had contacted C.H. van Vierssen, scientific attaché at the Royal Netherlands Embassy in Washington, and that van Vierssen had suggested that NEDECO be contacted.

"I FOUND that NEDECO is an acronym for Netherlands Engineering Consultants," McCauley explained. "This firm was founded in 1951 for the express purpose of offering Dutch consultancy services to overseas clients."

NEDECO itself is set up to make use of a number of Dutch organizations, and is in effect a consortium of companies. McCauley said that NEDECO is an "umbrella organization" under which independent consultants operate.

"Actual work would be done by American contractors," McCauley said. "The sole function of NEDECO would be to provide people who have great amounts of experience and who would develop the sophisticated systems needed to control flooding along the shores of Michigan."

The NEDECO foundation is not subsidized by the Dutch government and is completely independent of contracting and manufacturing interests.

McCauley said his suggestion should not be interpreted as a slap at the Army Corps of Engineers. "It's simply a case of having available some people who are generally acknowledged to be the best in the world in the area of flood control," McCauley said. "I am certain that the people in my District appreciate the efforts of the Corps of Engineers, but we are faced with a crisis situation and we need the best help we can get at once."

McCauley said that he anticipated no legal problems in retaining the Dutch firm, but added that he was prepared to introduce legislation if it was needed.

NEDECO's main office is located at 48 Javastraat, The Hague, Netherlands. The foundation has conducted various programs throughout the world, including two land reclamation programs on the East Coast of the United States during the first week in May.

COMMUNITY TASK FORCE — When the citizens of Romulus obtained no help from the Department of Housing and Urban Development in cleaning unsightly HUD-owned homes in the Meadows Subdivision of the city, they mobilized to do the job themselves. Some of those who took part gathered for a picture after the work was done.

High shoe presents hazard

Fashion-conscious Michiganders bent on wearing stylish three- to five-inch platform shoes could represent the latest driving safety hazard, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"The new platform creations, which the ladies and some men are buying by the thousands, are probably the worst driving shoe ever created," warns Arthur C. Gibson, Auto Club Safety and Traffic Engineering manager.

"It is very difficult to shift the foot from the accelerator to the brake in an emergency while wearing these elevated shoes," Gibson explains. "Add these shoes to the voluminous and cuffed bell-bottom slacks flapping around the ankles just waiting to snag the heels, and there is a real driving problem for both men and women."

"Anyone who has seen a person try to walk in platform shoes must wonder how he or she can possibly drive an auto in them," he adds, citing the recent story concerning a New York fashion editor who recently fell on her platform shoes and broke an ankle.

Several Detroit-area secretaries who wear platform shoes complain that when the soles become wet they keep slipping off the accelerator and brake pedals.

Chamber chatter

Welcome Wagon coming soon

by THEODORE F. KUCKELMAN, Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce

Welcome Wagon in our area will pass from a dream to a reality. Mrs. Betty Ottewill and her assistant, Mrs. Cox are putting it to work. Businesses will be called on to support their program. If interested, call Mrs. Ottewill at 697-8983.

Today, as usual, the U.S. free enterprise system worked — not perfectly, just generally better than any other economic system on the globe.

Today, the American people went about, as usual, creating and using one-third of the entire world's output of goods and services, but having only 6 per cent of the world's population and 7 per cent of its land area.

Chamber of Commerce annual meeting will be on Saturday, April 28 beginning at 6:30 p.m. Dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. dancing until 1 a.m., at the Hilton Inn, located at the I-94 Expressway at Merriman Road. Guests invited.

Mail your reservation form or call John Holowicki at 697-9111 to reserve your tickets.

Camping sessions offered

Area girl scouts are now registering for resident camping sessions at Camp Linden in Livingston County, according to Mrs. Louis Galan, president of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

Four two-week sessions will be held from June 27 to Aug. 22, with places for 131 girls in each. Enrollment for the only one-week session, June 20-27, is now closed.

Just as it has for the past 10 years, Camp Linden this year will feature programs tailored for three age groups, Junior Girl Scouts, fourth to sixth graders; Cadettes, Seventh to ninth graders; and Seniors, high school age.

Although all programs are girl-directed with the girls themselves deciding how they will spend their time, special opportunities are presented to each group.

Junior Girl Scouts may elect a broad program featuring swimming, boating, hiking, bicycling, and cook-outs, as well as short term projects in crafts and other skills.

In a Wider Opportunities Program, Cadette Scouts can frame more complicated projects such as taking overnight bicycle or canoe trips from Louis Lake to Twin Lakes and Green Lake, all within Camp Linden's 430 acres.

Some Cadettes elect to pursue major ecology projects such as correcting drainage problems or reforestation. Subjects as diverse as drama and building tree houses may be pursued in depth.

Both Junior and Cadette campers always have the option of not participating in group projects. "For many just the experience of getting away from home and city life to enjoy the out-of-doors, is all they ask or need of camp," Mrs. Galan said.

Senior Girl Scouts attend Camp Linden as aides, assisting camp counselors in areas of special interest, such as water sports, outdoor activities, or crafts, writing, music, and other Girl Scout program areas.

Fees for the two-week camp sessions are $60 for all ages. Camper scholarships are available. Registration and campership application forms are now available from Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, 19 North Hamilton St., Ypsilanti, 48197 or phone 483-2370.

CALL IT — Belleville's Hubert Russell (at left) and Dan Ziel of Plymouth lunge for the finish line after a grueling duel in the low hurdles. Who won? Well, even the officials couldn't determine the winner, so they called it a "dead heat," the two athletes sharing first place honors. It was close all the way for Coach Bob Boudreau's Tigers who lost out at the wire 63-60 to the visiting Plymouth team.

Plymouth nips Belleville, 63-60

Track meets don't come any closer than the one staged between Belleville High School and Plymouth last Thursday. Leading 60-58 going in the last relay, Belleville dropped its third Suburban 8 Conference decision 63-60, when the quarter-mile relay team lost its event.

Unfortunately, Belleville may have won the meet — if Coach Bob Boudreau's team was at full strength. Earlier in the week the Tiger coach had suspended two key runners, Ken Hall and Mark Davis for missing a 6 a.m. practice.

"The two boys could have made the difference for us," explained Boudreau whose team has lost league encounters previously to Livonia Bentley and Trenton. Hall has been clocked in 10.1 for the 100 and also runs a 22 flat as an anchorman on the 880-yard relay team.

Davis is our top half-miler, so it's obvious that with these two boys we could have turned the tide," he said. "But, discipline, especially for athletes, is important, and if they can't live by the rules, well, then we'll leave them at the sidelines."

Belleville carded six first places and tied in another. The Tigers won the shot put thanks to a 46 foot, 9 1/2 inch toss by Otty Turentine. They also took the high jump and pole vault with Gary VanBuhler and Bruce Ford who had 5 feet, 8 and 10 feet, 6 inch efforts, respectively.

Chris Palnau's 2:02.3 won the half-mile and Arnold McCurdy's 52.4 was the best time for the quarter-mile. Belleville's mile relay team registered a winning team of 3:38. The lineup included VanBuhler, Charles Greca, Palnau and anchorman McCurdy. Hubert Russell got a share of first place in the low hurdles.

Belleville will send two relay teams to the annual Mott Relays which will be staged in Flint over the weekend. The Tigers will be represented by Palnau, Davis, Randy Block and Ed Conrad. Block and Conrad are sophomores who have been clocked in 4:49 and 4:47 in the mile this season.

Cole shuts out Trenton

Belleville has a week to enjoy its recent victory over Trenton, but you can bet Tiger Coach Vitold Kaminski will be making some adjustments to his baseball machine which has churned out one Suburban 8 Conference victory in three starts when the vacations are over.

"We have had our share of problems," the veteran coach said before the Easter Vacations interrupted the usual practice routine. "But I feel we're going to be a tough team to beat in May."

"We have showed that we can play both defensively as well as offensively."

Belleville will resume conference competition on Tuesday when the Tigers will travel to Plymouth for a 4 p.m. game.

The local club broke a three-game losing streak at the expense of Trenton who fell 4-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Jerry Cole. Cole chalked up the victory, getting 10 strikeouts en route.

Joe Stillwagon continued his personal assault on rival pitching as he hammered his fourth homer of the campaign.

He has brought his total to four on the season.

After Stillwagon's fourth inning homer, Larry Farr drew a base on balls. He went to second on an error then was chased home on a single by Cole. Robin Hook also singled and Gary Atkins drove home the two base runners with a long double.

Belleville also threatened in the fifth inning when Mike Dansard doubled and reached third when a pickoff attempt backfired on the Trojans. However, Tim Vance's fly ball to left field wasn't far enough and when Dansard attempted to score after the catch he was cut down at the plate.

Dansard continues to wield a "hot bat" for the Tigers as he pounded two doubles in three trips to the plate. The senior all-around athlete now has 11 hits in 19 times at the plate.

Stillwagon's four homers is also a Belleville record.

Close call, but Reed's Chiefs nip Carlson

In three years of coaching, Keith Reed never lost a quarter-mile race in a high school track meet. Not until last Thursday, that is.

The Huron coach shifted his personnel against Gibraltar Carlson, and inserted two half-milers into the quarter-mile event, who consequently lost. Huron won the meet, however, trimming Carlson 65-57.

"I almost blew it," joked

Reed. "In three years of coaching that was the first time I lost a quarter-mile."

Huron captured nine firsts in the meet to Carlson's five, sparked by Mike Sovodash's three firsts and a second. Sovodash won the high jump with a 5'6" leap, the high hurdles in 16.5 and low hurdles in 21.8. His 18-foot leap in the long jump was good for second.

Ed Fakhoury also paced the Chiefs, winning the mile in 4:53, 220 dash in 23.8 and anchoring the 880 Relay which won with a 1:38.0 timing.

Other firsts for Huron were taken by Jeff Hessler in the half-mile (2:11.0), Tim Bilerey in the two-mile (10:47.9) and the mile relay team of Don Bennett, Joel Edge, Melvin Sheats and Mark Mittlestat (3:48.0).

Despite the win, which upped the Chiefs' Huron League record to 1-2 (Carlson is 0-3), Reed has little to be happy about.

Sovodash will be absent from the team about a week while on a trip to Florida, and Huron's top two sprinters who have been sidelined with leg ailments, Dave Durham and Roger Miles, are showing few signs of recovery.

"I'm not too optimistic," Reed said frankly. "But if we get everybody back before too long I think we can win three of our four meets in May."

Blissfield posed as Huron's nemesis yesterday, and the Chiefs will make a return trip to Blissfield Saturday.

Huron bats are silenced

The rains came a day too soon for New Boston Huron's baseball team.

The scheduled conference contest between the Chiefs and Tecumseh was scratched last Wednesday due to inclement weather, but the sun shone bright the next day and Huron dropped its third game in four outings to Carlton Airport, 3-2.

The loss lowered Coach Ron Smith's Chiefs to 1-2 in the Huron League and 1-3 over-all. Airport evened its Huron League record at 1-1.

Trailing 3-2 in the seventh, the Chiefs loaded the bases but didn't budge from the sacks as Airport reliever Bob Stamper struck out two Chiefs to end the game.

Losing pitcher Jamie Hinojosa yielded two runs to Airport in the first inning on two singles and two errors. Airport added its final run in the fourth.

Huron chopped away at Airport's lead, scoring once in the fourth when Ken DeLano walked with the bases loaded and once in the fifth on a sacrifice fly by Dana Kemp which scored Hinojosa from third.

Romulus '9' in slump

Like that now famous Seagull, Jonathan — Romulus' baseball team learned that "perfect" is never really obtained — it's only in the mind. And the Eagles, after winning what Coach Bill Cuhnan called, "a perfect game" at Ann Arbor Pioneer a couple of weeks ago, have been far from perfect, losing two straight. Taylor Center, a Mid-Wayne Conference title contender, turned back Romulus 5-1, while Highland Park also downed Cuhnan's Eagles 8-4 in last week's competition. "Our problems began with Highland Park," said Cuhnan, who is in his second year as the Eagles' head coach, "we have no excuses. We were out and outplayed. I'm disappointed because I thought that with the victory over Pioneer we had jelled into an excellent team."

Highland Park struck for four runs in the first inning, added one more in the second and picked up two in the third to grab a 7-0 lead before the Eagles realized what hit them. Romulus made it a "respectable" ball game when it tilted the scoreboard four times in the fifth, but the Parkers came back for another run in the sixth.

In the fourth, walks to Bob Eves and Jeff Clark ignited the rally which was sparked by a two-out single by Jerry Allen, who drove in one run. Then, Larry Hall hit a shot over the centerfielder's head, driving in two more runs. Vergil Smith's base hit accounted for the final Romulus run.

Tom Madej worked two-thirds of the opening inning then was relieved by Steve Pollard when he complained about a sore arm. Pollard inherited a bases-loaded situation and Dale Sexton resolved that problem when he connected for a triple to unload the bases.

Clark relieved Pollard in the fourth and was the most effective Romulus pitcher of the game. The three Eagle hurlers gave up a total of eight hits while their mates collected four but committed three costly errors.

Kurt Lenderman was tagged for the loss against Taylor as he pitched six innings before Clark came on. Romulus took a 1-0 first inning lead when Smith was safe on an error, moved to third on a single by Roy Hollis and scored via a "suicide bunt" pulled off by Manuel DeLarosa.

Romulus was limited to three hits by Dale Kindscott, who went all the way for the Rams.

The Eagles will be back in action tomorrow when they will host River Rouge. They are also scheduled to play Robichaud on Friday at the Dearborn Heights' high school's field while on Monday Inkster will be in town.

Area trackmen cut times

- The state high school track record for the 100-yard dash is 9.6.
- And Dearborn Heights Robichaud sprinter Andre Jacobs and teammate Wesley Jones are zeroing in on the record.
- With over a month of practice and competition before them, the two Heights sprinters could possibly "break the record barrier with the help of a little luck and a lot of hard work," says Coach Bernie Ingle.
- The times and performances of most area athletes have been bettered as evidenced by the latest listing compiled by Jerry Szukaitis. Coaches wishing to get a time or performance on the listing are urged to call Coach Szukaitis at 728-4630.

Patent granting system may be overhauled

WASHINGTON BUREAU

WASHINGTON — Sen. Philip A. Hart, (D-Mich.), has introduced legislation to overhaul the federal government's old and overburdened

Spring term registration under way

Registrations are now being accepted for spring term courses offered at the Rackham Education Memorial by The University of Michigan Extension Service. With few exceptions, classes will begin on Thursday, May 3, and will meet regularly on Mondays and Thursdays for 12 sessions.

Junior-senior and graduate students will find education and psychology courses supported by cognates in American studies, English, health development and social work. One of the courses, "Mental Hygiene of Childhood and Adolescence" (Ed. C530), required for a master's degree sequence, will be televised directly from the Ann Arbor campus classroom of Prof. William C. Morse, chairman of the combined program in education and psychology.

Off-campus students will be able to participate actively in the course via one-way TV picture and two-way sound.

Printed announcements listing all courses scheduled for the spring term and containing information as to registration and fees will be available from the Detroit Extension Service and Center for Graduate Study, 60 Farnsworth Ave., Detroit 48202; Tel. 832-7400.

system for granting patents. If enacted his measure would provide for the first major reform of the system since 1836.

Among other things the bill would establish the patent office as an independent agency rather than as an adjunct of the commerce department.

SECRET sessions wherein "patentability" is decided would be replaced by public adversary hearings, under the measure. The patent office also would have a public counsel to argue for the public interest.

"The patent system - as spelled out in the Constitution - is supposed to offer bait so that inventions will be developed, and implemented for the public good," Hart said.

"But given its intended purpose, the U.S. Patent system cannot be described as a success. The evidence is strong that our system tends to frustrate invention and tie up technology so the public can't benefit from it."

Pointing out that the system originally was designed to deal with a few hundred inventions a year, coming mostly from individuals, Hart explained:

"IN TODAY'S corporate dominated, technology oriented world, only 20 out of every 100 patents granted go to individuals. And the annual burden of applications has risen to 100,000.

Currently the patent office is struggling with a two and a half year backlog.

WCCC expands spring courses

An expanded number of class offerings compared with previous spring terms will be available to students of Wayne County Community College (WCCC) when they register for the spring term.

Last year, only a limited number of classes were available in the spring, and those were offered in the evening.

This spring, students will be able to elect either accelerated seven day or evening or 14-week classes. Instruction will be offered at 23 locations throughout Wayne County.

"BY INCREASING the number of courses offered this spring, we are attempting to make WCCC more flexible and responsive to the needs of the citizens of Wayne County," said WCCC President Reginald Wilson.

In the academic area, additional courses will be offered in the women's studies program, including "Women in Literature," "Political and Economic Status of Women," "Psychology Constructs the Female" and "Black Women in America".

The women's studies courses are presently coordinated by the Sociology Department. Most other liberal arts classes will have more sections this spring compared to last year.

ANYONE 18 years of age or older can register for WCCC classes without formal application. A high school diploma or GED is not required unless the student is under 18.

Tuition for all classes is $10 per credit hour, or an average of $30 per class.

One-year certificate and two-year associate degree programs can be elected in a variety of technical and liberal arts fields. Most credits earned at WCCC are transferable to four-year institutions.

Registration dates for the spring term are April 30 - May 4 at 12 locations.

Three additional registration locations - Glenn High School in Westland, Northwestern High School and Kennedy High School in Taylor - have been added to the nine locations used for winter enrollment.

Class schedules are available free of charge at the main office, 4612 Woodward and at the regional registration centers. Also, information may be obtained by calling 832-2300, 832-5699, 832-6954 or 832-2950.

All classes begin the week of May 7.

Health insurance cost probe asked

State Rep. Gary M. Owen (D-Ypsilanti) has co-sponsored a House resolution to create a special committee to study health insurance costs in Michigan.

The resolution asks for a five-member committee which would study health insurance costs, look into statutes and procedures related to hospital and health care costs and check the health care insurance company surveillance priorities of the State Insurance Bureau.

"The cost of health care has, in recent years, accelerated at an alarming rate," Owen said. "Worse yet, it has been estimated that by 1980 Americans will spend five times as much for health care as they spent in 1965. It is of vital importance, therefore, that we take immediate action to attempt to stem the tremendous rise in health care costs."

Rep. Owen added, "There is an especially urgent need to look into the effectiveness of the health care insurance companies in resisting excessive charges by hospitals and other health care institutions."

If approved by the House, the committee would function for the duration of the present legislature. It would report its findings and recommendations to the legislature.

Snowmobile fatalities lower --credit weather, not drivers

Poor weather — rather than safer snowmobilers — was the probable reason why Michigan recorded 25 snowmobile fatalities this past winter as compared to 30 during the 1971-72 snowmobile season, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"We suspect that the snowmobile death toll will again climb upwards next winter due to the recently enacted state law that allows snowmobilers to drive on most highway rights-of-way in southern Michigan," said Fred Rehm, Auto Club general manager.

The impact of the new law, which took effect in January despite strenuous objections from Auto Club, the State Police and other organizations concerned with snowmobile safety, is hard to gauge at this point, Rehm said, noting that: "COMPARED to previous seasons, this past winter was a disaster for the snowmobile sport. Warm weather and lack of snow almost completely eliminated snowmobiling in the Lower Peninsula during most of January and March."

Trails in southern Michigan generally were reported open only five weeks this past winter. All-round good to excellent snowmobiling prevailed throughout the state for roughly one week in December and two weeks in February. The 1972-73 season ended about six weeks earlier than usual.

"Snowmobilers are to be congratulated for the 17 per cent reduction in deaths this winter as compared with the season before," stated Rehm. "At the same time, the snowmobiler should keep in mind that the shorter-than-usual season played a major role in the reduction and efforts to make snowmobiling a safer sport should not be relaxed."

AN AUTO CLUB analysis of this winter's 25 snowmobile deaths shows these facts:

Fourteen (or 68 per cent) of the deaths involved snowmobilers that were in operation on highways or highway shoulders. Eleven deaths were off-road fatalities. These figures continue the pattern set last season, when 66 per cent of the snowmobile fatalities were highway related.

In assessing the 1972-73 snowmobile season, Auto Club notes as a bright spot the fact that 53,500 Michigan youngsters successfully completed snowmobile safety courses this winter.

The safety instructions, coordinated by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, will become mandatory after Jan. 1, 1973, for all children aged 12 to 15 who want to operate snowmobiles

Pre-disaster aid sought to avert flood damages

By TOM OCHILTREE
Enterprise-Roman
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — U.S. Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., has asked Gov. William G. Milliken to request full-scale federal pre-disaster assistance to avert the danger to "lives, health and property" in flood-prone areas of Michigan.

In a telegram to Milliken, O'Hara said an appeal by the governor to the White House might trigger an order from President Nixon to help the threatened areas under terms of the Disaster Assistance Act of 1971.

One section of that act provides: "If the President determines that a major disaster is imminent, he is authorized to use federal departments, agencies, and instrumentalities, and all other resources of the federal government to avert or lessen the effects of such disaster before its actual occurrence."

O'Hara said stretches along the shores of Lake Huron, the St. Clair River and Lake St. Clair already are hard pressed by high water levels.

Localities in O'Hara's 12th District are among those threatened.

On O'Hara's initiative, congressmen from Great Lakes states already have pressured the federal government to help residents, farmers and businessmen rebuild damaged properties and recover storm related losses.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, in cooperation with state and local authorities is putting in emergency dikes in some places. The flow of water from Lake Superior to the lower lakes has been reduced.

"Immediate broad-scale action by the federal government is essential if we are to avert major property loss, and if we are to safeguard the lives and health of the people in flood-prone areas of Michigan."

Low cholesterol diets topic of class series

Persons whose intake of cholesterol and fatty acids has been restricted by their physicians, as well as members of their families, are invited to join a series of low cholesterol diet classes, sponsored by the Southern Wayne County Heart Unit of the Michigan Heart Association.

"Cholesterol is considered 'Public Heart Enemy Number One' by the association, and it is easy to achieve a tasty, nutritious diet when the risks and the rules are known," said Mrs. Dianne Batck, R.D., chairman of the Nutrition Committee of the Heart Association.

Classes will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 3, in Room 136 at John Glenn High School, 36105 Marquette, Westland.

The series will consist of four weekly two-hour long classes and will feature a talk by Phillip S. Grillo, M.D. of Belleville, at the first session. Dr. Grillo, vice president of the heart unit board of directors, will discuss cholesterol and its relation to heart disease and how it affects the heart and circulatory system. A film "Eat To Your Heart's Content" will also be shown.

The second session will contain information for planning a well-balanced diet by Mrs. Mary Louise Blades, home economist. Mrs. Blades will be of special interest to mothers and homemakers interested in feeding their families to avoid future risk of heart attack, as well as to those who are recovering from heart attack or stroke.

The last sessions include shopping hints, meal planning, how to eat out or at work without making your diet suffer, how to modify family favorite recipes to include less saturated fats, and the principles and pitfalls of weight reduction, presented by the class moderator, Mrs. Margaret Brown, a registered dietitian from Belleville.

Mrs. Brown will extend the classes to cover the basics of low sodium diet modifications if requested by the class members.

Those wishing to register for the series may do so on the first night of class or may reserve a place by calling the Heart Information Center at 283-5800.

The fee will be $3 for the series, with another family member or spouse admitted free of charge. Persons are requested to bring a copy of their diet, if one is already prescribed by family physician, to the first class.

Dance concert slated

The Wayne State University Dance Workshop will appear in concert at 8:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5 at the Community Arts Auditorium.

This year's spring program represents the 44th annual performance of the group, organized in 1928 by Professor Emeritus Ruth Murray as the performing company of the Dance Department at Wayne.

The program will offer nine dances choreographed by workshop students and faculty members. Moods and content will range from the thoughtful "Meditation for Seven," a dance inspired by Eastern thought and accompanied by Indian sitar music, to "The Monumental Exchange," a tongue-in-cheek comment on love set to Stravinsky's "Three Pieces for Solo Clarinet."

This year's concert will feature "Prisms," which was choreographed by guest artist Shirley Ririe, co-director of the Ririe-Woodbury Modern Dance Company of Salt Lake City, Utah. Miss Ririe and the company were in residence on the WSU campus in February, 1973 when "Prisms" was taught to Workshop members and recorded in both labotation and on videotape.

The tape and score are now part of the permanent resource library at the Dance Notation Bureau and are available for purposes of study and production.

Advance tickets at $1.50 are available at the WSU Ticket Office. They may also be purchased at the door for $3.

May events announced for Michigan areas

Lansing — The days of May in Michigan are scented with blossoms, alive with activity, customized and costumed by our ethnic heritage, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

The month begins with Blossomtime, through May 5, at Benton Harbor and St. Joseph. More than half a century old, the festival celebrates the beginning of Michigan's growing season and is one of the largest events of its kind in the nation. A variety of events designed for family enjoyment climaxing with the Grand Floral Parade. Many of the blossom-decked floats in the two and one-half hour extravaganza are believed by many to rival the beauty of those in the famous Rose Parade.

May 17, seven 20th century voyagers will embark from St. Ignace to retrace the canoe journey of Louis Jolliet and Father Jacques Marquette 300 years ago.

Perhaps one of the most rewarding highlights of spring in Michigan is the seeking, and finding, of the elusive morel mushrooms. That's what the National Mushroom Festival, May 12-13, at Boyne City is all about. Hunters with the sharpest eyes not only reap a harvest of delicious morels, but also cash prizes.

Tulip Time in Holland, Michigan could well be described as a national tradition. Since 1919, the festival has attracted visitors from all parts of the country. The "Klompers" (wooden shoe) dancers are one of the main, and most popular attractions. Other unique attractions include the wooden shoe factories, Dutch Village, the Netherlands Museum, Baker Furniture Museum, the authentic Dutch windmill "DeZwaan" and acres and acres of tulips in brilliant bloom. Tulip Time '73 is May 16-19 and if you plan to attend it's wise to make overnight reservations well in advance.

Guaranteed to be a treat for the whole family is the County Fair of Yesteryear, May 17-19, at Greenfield Village, Dearborn. The fair is a re-creation of rural fairs of a century and more ago, complete with marching bands, farm animals, a children's midway with games and prizes and a gala "Cavalcade of Transportation" parade each day. Visitors will see early crafts such as cider pressing, sheep shearing, butter churning and others demonstrated by Village craftsmen. In short, it's a delightful visit to yesterday.

Michigan Week is a statewide celebration, May 19-26 this year, with various and sundry activities and events scheduled in almost every city and community. The week's "kick-off" city is Sturgis.

Detroit's Ethnic Festival program opens May 25-28 with the Greek Festival at the Civic Center Riverfront. Greek art, music, dances and food will be among the highlights. The program will feature a different Ethnic Festival every weekend through Sept. 23.

Being "one of a kind" carried a certain degree of distinction and that's what sets the Annual Off-Road Rally apart. It's the only event of its kind in the Midwest for dune buggies and four-wheel drive vehicles.

Directory planned

The Romulus Jaycees have begun work on their 1973-74 city directory.

The directory is put together yearly by the Jaycees to provide area residents with important information on their community.

The publication is paid for by donations from local businesses. All excess funds are put into Jaycee community service projects.

Residents can expect the directory to be delivered to their doorstep when the Jaycees complete the project.

Jaycees gear up for walk

The Romulus Jaycees are gearing up for this Saturday's "Walk for Mankind," which will start at 9 a.m. at the Romulus Civic Center, Wayne and Goddard roads.

Expected to take part in this year's effort to raise money for "Project Concern," a world-wide charity, are State Representatives Gary Owens (D-22nd District) and Edward Mahalak (D-38th District) and Romulus City Clerk, Leonard Folmar.

The walkers are asked to pledge a certain amount of money per mile they walk in the scheduled 20-mile trek through the community, or to obtain backers who will donate to charity for each mile walked.

Eighty per cent of the money will go to Project Concern, a charity which establishes hospitals in underdeveloped nations.

The remaining 20 per cent of the funds will go to a charity designated by the walker.

Walk Chairman Phil McNett said that checkpoints will be set up along the walk route, which will carry the marchers as far south as Pennsylvania Road and as far north as Wick Road in the city.

At each check-point, the walker will be certified for the distance he's walked, to tally up the final charity contributions.

Any individual or civic group which wants to take part is asked to contact McNett at 941-7891, to make arrangements.

The walk is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday.

School bus safety week observed

Area government leaders and school administrators have jointly urged community-wide observance of National School Bus Safety Week (April 23-28).

"School buses carry the most precious cargo in the world—your children. Please be careful when near a school bus," their united plea said.

Motorists are reminded that the Michigan law on stopping for school buses require:

—You are required to stop when overtaking or meeting a school bus which has stopped and is displaying two alternating flashing red lights.

—Stops must be made at least 10 feet in front of the rear of the bus and you may not proceed until—A, school bus resumes motion, or B, visual signals on bus are no longer activated.

State law also provides that the school bus driver is required to use the two alternating flashing lights when it is stopped for the purpose of receiving or discharging school children and for a distance of at least 200 feet in advance of such stop.

Rabies clinic

Huron Township dog owners may have their dogs vaccinated for rabies from 2 until 6 p.m., Saturday at the New Boston Fire Hall, 37290 Huron River Dr., New Boston. The cost is $5 for a two-year shot.

Dog licenses due May 1 will be available at the hall.

The walk is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday.

Orientation sessions slated

Centennial Educational Park announces the following schedule for orientation meetings for students who will begin their high school career in the fall:

Thursday, May 3 — incoming Canton students
Wednesday, May 14 — incoming Salem students
Tuesday, May 15 — incoming students on traditional schedule

Students are encouraged to attend one of these meetings and to bring their parents. The May 3 and May 15 meetings will be held in Canton High School. The May 14 meeting will be held in Salem High School. The May 3 and May 14 meetings will have similar programs, thus parents may attend either meeting.

There will be a presentation at each meeting explaining the high school program and the opportunities available to students. Parents and students will have a chance to tour the building and to meet with counselors, teachers, and administrators. There will be an opportunity to ask questions about the high school program.

Parents try artwork

Edgemont School, Belleville, and the PTO (Parent-Teacher Organization) recently sponsored Parents' Art Night. Mrs. Debbie Imerson, Edgemont art teacher, decked the multi-purpose room with tables laden with art supplies.

Parents hunched themselves over the tables, straws in mouth, blowing water paints across the paper to create designs.

Much soap and water was put to use washing off the remains of finger paints from hands which a moment before were smearing the paints into pictures.

A blank linoleum block and knife gave the parents a chance to really cut up and make designs to be reprinted on paper. All the art work was titled, signed and hung in the multi-purpose room so the students could delight in seeing their parents' work.

Many parents discovered that they do have a lot of hidden talent and this experience gave them the opportunity to express their feelings

Trailer park confab tonight

Citizens concerned about the proliferation of trailer parks in Van Buren Twp. and their effect on the tax base will hold a meeting at 8 o'clock to night at the Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Rd., Belleville.

State Rep. Gary M. Owen (D-Ypsilanti) was a recent speaker before students of Belleville High School government classes in the auditorium.

After an introduction by School Supt. Dale E. Kaulitz, Rep. Owen spoke briefly on the trend toward electing younger members to the Michigan Legislature, how to get elected through various campaign methods and his present position on the Appropriations Committee of the State House of Representatives.

Robertson said Monday that he is scheduling a meeting of Metropolitan Detroit area developers to be held in the very near future in the township.

Letters will be forwarded to these developers asking them to attend the meeting yet to be set.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss single-family growth in the township and the present township zoning ordinance.

Registration ends Friday

YPSILANTI — Regular registration for both day and evening classes in Eastern Michigan University's eight-week Spring Session concludes April 27 in Briggs Hall on the EMU campus.

A few openings remain for spring classes, according to registration officials, with most of the courses near capacity. Classes begin April 30 and end June 20.

Registration after the April 27 deadline will be permitted through May 2 although a $5 late fee will be charged. The registration office will be open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays during the period. Students may also register for the Summer Session which begins June 25 and for the Fall Semester which begins August 27.

Tuition for one undergraduate credit is $17.50 with a $50 deposit. Graduate tuition is $21.50 an hour with a $20 deposit.

Prospective students should apply through the Admissions and Financial Aids Office in Room 212, Pierce Hall. Information on enrollment and registration may be obtained by calling that office at 487-3060.

Secret voting

Secret voting by ballot was practiced in ancient Greece and Rome by means of balls, marked stones, shells and tickets.

He pointed out that the Wayne County Intermediate District currently receives 48 cents per pupil while other intermediate districts receive up to nearly $8 per pupil.

Faust's amendment will guarantee that Wayne County receives a minimum of $1 per pupil.

"While the amendment is clearly a boon to Wayne County, it also helps several other large intermediate districts. And under the amendment, no one school district will receive less monies than in the past," said Faust.

"THE AMENDMENT further encourages consolidation among small intermediate districts. Today there are 59 such districts and we hope this can be reduced to 30 or so in the very near future," he said.

The state school aid bill is the single largest expenditure in the state budget. This year's expenditure is expected to be in the neighborhood of $1.3 billion.

Faust's amendment was approved in the Committee of the Whole and incorporated into the final bill when it passed the Senate on a 22-15 vote.

Although successful in getting the amendment approved, Faust was opposed in his effort by the chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

The school aid bill now goes to the House of Representatives for action.

Sen. Faust amendment added to measures for school aid

LANSING — The largest single money amendment added to the massive state school aid bill has been accomplished by Sen. William Faust, D-Westland.

Sen. Faust, a member of the powerful Senate Education Committee, successfully maneuvered a $1.9 million increase in aid to intermediate districts from $7.1 million to $9 million.

The great bulk of the increase will go to the Wayne County Intermediate Board. "THE INEQUITY of funding intermediate districts is one of the great shames of school financing in this state," said Faust.

Initial area meetings for public official orientation were set up at Bay City, St. Clair Shores, and Monroe, and other locations as needed.

The area sessions will continue, with possible locally announced changes in locations, as long as necessary to accommodate the aid processing.

The assistance for eligible local government claimants will cover damaged public facilities.

Financial and housing assistance and other aid for damaged homes and businesses will be available through SBA and HUD programs at temporary offices.

Two of the principal officials working in the federal-state relief processing are Lt. James Somers, disaster coordinator for the State Police emergency services division, and Leo MacNamee of the OEP.

Temporary disaster program offices in Lansing were opened at 2404 S. Logan St.

State officials decide disaster aid procedure

Procedures for obtaining disaster relief for shoreline flooding damage in areas of 11 Michigan counties were established in a series of meetings of federal and state officials in Lansing during the past week.

The counties of Bay, Berrien, Macomb, Monroe, St. Clair, Huron, Saginaw, Sanilac, Tuscola, Wayne, and Iosco were declared eligible for aid after presidential approval on petition of Gov. William G. Milliken.

Involved in the assistance procedure sessions were representatives of the State Police, the federal agencies of Emergency Preparedness, Housing and Urban Development, Small Business Administration, and local public officials.

skill games including duck pond, dig for gold, Jerico, cane rack, a lollipop tree and others. There will also be a cake walk, general store and jewelry engraving.

Refreshments will be sold in the cafeteria throughout the evening. There will be door prizes and naming of the King and Queen in the multi-purpose room of the school.

School carnival slated for May 4

The annual school carnival sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO) at Elwell Road Elementary School, Belleville, will be held from 5 to 9 p.m. May 4 at the school.

Carnival co-chairmen Sharon Justin and Jennie Prohaska are working with game chairman to make final preparations.

The carnival will have 10

That's just another way to say, we guarantee your car from the road to roof, and from door to door and from bumper to bumper for the first year (or 12,000 miles) you own it.

And we'll help you keep that new car ride that you rightfully deserve. Mechanical service is free, thanks to our exclusive, copyrighted, Free Mechanic Warranty. It covers a lot of the little things that go wrong with your car, like a defective door latch. (Subject to the conditions of the factory warranty.) In addition you get a 15 percent parts and labor discount for the two subsequent years.

Frankly, not much goes wrong with our cars these days. But if it should, we pay the Mechanic.
